JSfirm.com adds Flight Nurse/Paramedic Jobs

Roanoke, Texas (March 11, 2021) - JSfirm.com announced today they've added a new category to their aviation job website: Flight Nurse/Paramedic. This move comes in response to multiple requests over the past year to add this specific category, taking the total to 21 different categories of jobs on JSfirm.com.

This news follows JSfirm.com's recent announcement of increased hiring across the aviation industry. Like all facets of aviation, Covid-19 reshaped Air Ambulance medical operations, and many EMS operators saw their hiring come to a halt. However, it was also the Air Ambulance industry that was one of the first to resume hiring, and one whose hiring has quickly outpaced that of the rest of the aviation industry.

With more hiring happening in the EMS sector, more companies than ever were using JSfirm.com to find and draw medical professionals into Air Ambulance operations. In turn, more job seekers with a medical background began using JSfirm.com to find career opportunities. JSfirm.com quickly adapted to this increased demand by adding the new Flight Nurse/Paramedic category.

Abbey Hutter, Executive Director of JSfirm.com said, "We've always had Flight Nurse/Paramedic jobs and job seekers on our website, that's nothing new. However, now we've made it easier to advertise these positions to the right people." She continued, "Previously, a Flight Nurse/Paramedic job would fall into our Other category, where it could potentially be buried under numerous other aviation opportunities unrelated to Flight EMS opportunities. Our primary goal is to make it as easy as possible for companies to find the aviation professionals they're looking for, while also displaying these jobs to relevant, qualified individuals."
